Introducing the Learning and Support Department

- Who we are
- What we do
- How we can help

Learn how to conduct, edit, and read systematic reviews.

Learn Online

Use our learning resources to explore topics in detail, and our pathways to learn about a subject in depth.

Learn at a training event

We hold regular workshops around the world, and we can help you to find courses run by affiliate organisations.

Consult a handbook

Find all of Cochrane's handbooks and guides from the GRADE handbook to the Cochrane Style Guide.

Learn in your language

All our resources are available in English, and some are available in German, Korean, Russian, and Spanish.

Planning for the future

- How can we continue to build the Trainers' Network community of practice?
- Upcoming LSD activities:
 - Plans for Seoul
 - Standard Author Training Materials
 - Post-Trainers' Week direction
 - Our training materials: training.cochrane.org

Any questions or comments?

This is Ms Teachina Superbio.

She came from a far away planet called Encrypton where all the didactic skills, instructional theory, and teaching materials are present in abundance, but encoded and stored in millions of crystals, carefully organized by specialty or subspecialty of knowledge, and updated periodically.

Of course, Ms Superbio has a code to access all this crystallized wealth, which makes her a teacher of supernatural qualities and powers.

She can do basically anything, as long as it is related to teaching and training.

If you had a chance to meet Ms Superbio, what would you ask her?

What kind of favour would you ask from her to help you in your teaching and training?
